

HYPERSUITE/5

Comprehensive Enterprise Content Management solution from IMTF

There are many reasons for using HYPERSUITE as part of your archiving concept. The challenges linked to data processing do not simply lie in the choice of a suitable software solution which meets your business requirements; having the best solution is of little use if it cannot be integrated and operated in an optimum way.

The partnership forged between Swisscom IT Services and IMTF removes this shortcoming. Businesses not only benefit from a solution adapted to their needs, but in additional optimised outsourced IT services: from planning to operations and taking in integration on the way.

Swisscom IT Services and IMTF are the leading players in Switzerland in their respective market segments and are perfectly complementary.

IMTF HYPERSUITE

The core of HYPERSUITE is comprised of the Enterprise Object Repository. This is a highly flexible system based on the latest technologies for the management of all types of electronic objects. It organises and archives all documents as digital objects and is designed to be a true Content Manager.

With its open interfaces, support for standard formats and its enterprise-wide data model, the HYPERSUITE platform is an ideal middleware hub linking business applications with long-term storage media. HYPERSUITE of course complies with current data storage regulations.

That is why HYPERSUITE is much more than a simple archiving system; it is an integration platform for all applications connected with document management (EAI: Enterprise Application Integration).
